Contributing to CancerNet

Why contribute? Why publish?

- To share knowledge
- To advance your field of practice
- To disseminate key findings or opinions
- To contribute to policy debates

Introduction

CancerNet is a newsletter that is published four times a year by the Cancer Nurses College, NZNO.

It aims to inform and encourage nurses managing people with cancer to share opinions, resources, clinical practice and continuing professional development.

Submitting your work

- Articles should be submitted in Microsoft Word by email to cancernursesnz@gmail.com
- acknowledgment of receipt of your submission will be sent by email.

Types of articles

All types of articles are welcomed and can include

- Opinion
- clinical practice
- case studies
- continuing practice development
- literature review and
- advanced study (e.g. BSc or MSc) write ups.

Word count

Opinion articles should be between 700 – 1,000 words long. However, clinical based articles, literature reviews and advanced study articles can be between 1,500 to 3,500 words, including references.

Illustrative and images

Authors must obtain permission for the use of illustrative material or images and ensure that this material is labeled and captioned.

Referencing

A recognised referencing system is encouraged. If the reference list is long, the reference list is available on request from the author.