

CENNZ Journal Report for 2026 AGM

The Emergency Nurse New Zealand journal continues to serve as a vital platform for showcasing excellence in emergency nursing across Aotearoa. We extend our sincere thanks to Editor Sandy Richardson and Publisher Sean McGarry for their ongoing leadership and dedication. Gratitude is also due to all contributors—both new and returning—whose work enriches the publication.

In 2026, the journal featured regional reports on:

- June 2026

- BE-FAST at Triage: A Necessary Evolution for Stroke Recognition in Aotearoa Emergency Departments - Marilyn E. McCullum
- The Experiences of Māori nurses working within the Emergency Departments of Aotearoa, New Zealand - Natasha Hemopo
- Strengthening Sepsis Recognition: Updated Sepsis Pathways & Korero at CENNZ - Ally Hossain
- Blood culture diagnostic stewardship for adults: take care and take two

- November: Postponed

Looking ahead to 2027, we aim to maintain a consistent publication schedule with issues in March, July, and November, continuing to reflect the evolving priorities and innovations in emergency nursing.
