As of the 31st March each year the Union parties to the agreement shall notify CHT Healthcare Trust of the maximum number of employment relations education leave days, and the details of the calculation.

Employees who have been allocated employment relations education leave by the Union parties to the agreement shall advise CHT Healthcare Trust as soon as possible and not later than 14 days before the first day of such leave.

CHT Healthcare Trust shall not refuse an eligible employee taking employment relations education leave unless taking the leave on the dates notified would unreasonably disturb the organisation's business.

28. TRAINING & DEVELOPMENT

- (a) The Employer will provide in-service education for all employees.
- (b) Payment for attendance at the prescribed agreed programmes shall be at ordinary time rates.
- (c) The employees party to this Agreement agree to attend the prescribed and pertinent programmes wherever possible.
- (d) The Employer will ensure that care and support workers are able to attain:
 - The New Zealand Certificate in Health and Wellbeing level 2 (or equivalent) within the first 12 months of employment; and
 - The New Zealand Certificate in Health and Wellbeing level 3 (or equivalent) within the first 24 months of employment; and
 - The New Zealand Certificate in Health and Wellbeing level 4 (or equivalent) within the first 36 months of employment.

Support to attain these qualifications shall include paying the fees of training courses, providing no less than 2 days paid study leave per year and providing access to supervisors and assessors. CHT Healthcare Trust will take all reasonably practicable steps to ensure that the worker is able to attain the qualification as soon as is reasonably practicable.

- (e) The parties agree that employees are able to apply to their Manager for study leave for the purposes of professional development.

29. DISCIPLINARY & DISMISSAL PROCEDURES

It is expected that employees will conduct themselves properly and competently in their work at all times.

The parties to this Agreement agree that the Trust Disciplinary Policies and Procedures will be used.

30. MANAGEMENT OF CHANGE

- (a) The parties agree that consultative arrangements should be encouraged in the workplace and recognise that the delegates of the Union parties to this agreement are the authorised representatives of Union members, and that their role as delegate includes recruitment, education, and attendance at meetings, negotiations and consultative forums.
- (b) CHT Healthcare Trust shall meet with the union parties and union delegates to discuss the structure, functioning and timeframes of a consultative process to manage proposed changes when:
 - CHT is considering contracting out, selling, leasing or transferring all or part of the organisation; or
 - CHT initiates a review of part of its operations which may result in significant changes to either its structure, staffing, or work practices;
- (c) If CHT decides to contract out, sell, lease or transfer all or part of the organisation, those employees performing laundry services who elect to transfer to the new employer, shall automatically become an employee of the new employer on the same terms and conditions as applied immediately before the specified date, including terms and conditions relating to whether the employee is employed fulltime or part-time, and their employment will be treated as continuous, including service-related entitlements.

The new employer will become a party to this Collective Agreement with respect to those workers.

Those employees performing laundry services, who elect to transfer to the new employer and who are subsequently declared redundant by the new employer for reasons relating to the restructuring, within 12 months of the transfer taking place, shall be entitled to redundancy compensation from the new employer as per Clause 30(e) of this Collective Agreement, including recognition of continuous service. The union reserves the right to bargain with the new employer for redundancy entitlements over and above those contained within this Collective Agreement.

All affected employees must be given a reasonable opportunity to exercise their right to elect to transfer to the new employer, or not to transfer. With respect to all other workers where CHT Healthcare Trust is unable to secure continuity of employment on substantially the same terms and conditions with the purchaser or contractor, the organisation shall meet with the union to discuss the options available to affected employees including:

- Attrition
- Leave without pay
- Retraining
- Reduction in hours
- Redeployment to a suitable like position within CHT Healthcare Trust
- Redundancy severance
- Job search assistance
- Preparation of curriculum vitae
- Provision of a certificate of service
- Counselling

- (d) Information which will be given to employees and their representatives:
- Location of proposed surplus
 - Total number of proposed surplus employees
 - Date by which surplus will need to be discharged
 - Positions, gradings, names of affected employees
 - Availability, if any, of alternative positions in the Trust
- (e) Redundancy is a situation that occurs when the employment of an employee (i.e. not a casual, temporary or fixed term Agreement employee) is terminated by his/her employer if that action by the employer is attributable to the fact that the position filled by that employee has or will become superfluous to the needs of the employer.

If the employer declares an employee redundant after exhausting all of the options outlined in sub clause (c) above; then redundancy compensation shall be payable using the following formula:

- For the first six years of continuous service – the equivalent of 1 weeks pay for each full year of service;
- For the following four years of continuous service – the equivalent of 2 weeks pay for each full year of service;
- For any incomplete years of qualifying service, a pro-rata payment based on the number of completed months of service shall be paid.

Employees who are deemed to be surplus shall be given as much notification as possible, but not less than four weeks will be given unless special circumstances arise.

The maximum redundancy compensation shall not exceed the equivalent of fourteen (14) weeks' pay.

All compensation and other payments made pursuant to this clause shall be calculated at the employee's ordinary rate of pay as at the date that notice of redundancy is given.

For the purposes of this clause "ordinary rate of pay" means basic pay without overtime, penal rates or allowances.

There is no right to redundancy compensation where the employer:

- Transfers the employee to an alternative position with the employer on substantially the same terms and conditions of employment; or
- Sells, transfers or leases a business and the employees transfer to the new employer on substantially the same terms and conditions of employment.

31. SEXUAL AND RACIAL HARASSMENT

- (a) Sexual and racial harassment is verbal or physical conduct of a sexual or racial nature by one person toward another and:
- The conduct is unwelcome and offensive and might reasonably be perceived as unwelcome and offensive;
 - and
 - The conduct is of a serious nature or is persistent, to the extent that it has a detrimental effect on the conditions of an employee's employment, job performance or opportunity.
- (b) The parties agree that sexual and racial harassment are totally unacceptable.

32. EMPLOYMENT RELATIONSHIP PROBLEMS

Definitions:

An “employment relationship problem” includes:

- a personal grievance;
- a dispute;
- any other problem relating to or arising out of the employment relationship;
- but does not include any problem with negotiating new terms and conditions of employment.

A “personal grievance” means a claim that an employee has:

- been unjustifiably dismissed;
- had his/her employment or conditions of employment, affected to his/her disadvantage by some unjustifiable action by the employer:
- been discriminated against in his/her employment: or
- been sexually harassed in his/her employment: or
- been racially harassed in his/her employment: or
- been subjected to duress in relation to union membership.

NOTE: The terms used in this clause have precise legal meanings which are set out in detail in the Employment Relations Act. Employees who believe they have a personal grievance should follow the procedure in Appendix C.

A “dispute” is a disagreement over the interpretation or application of an employment agreement.

An employment relationship problem shall be dealt with in accordance with the procedure which is Appendix C to this agreement.

Should the employee wish to raise a personal grievance she/he must raise the grievance with his or her employer within 90 days from the date on which the action alleged to amount to a personal grievance occurred or came to the notice of the employee, whichever is the later.

33. VARIATION OF COLLECTIVE EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

Where the parties to this Agreement agree, this Agreement may be varied in writing. Any changes to this Agreement can only be made with the written agreement of both the employer and the union party.

34. CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

The employee shall not divulge or communicate any confidential information of the employer or connections of the employer, or of persons in the employer's care, except to persons lawfully entitled to receive such information either during employment or when employment ceases.

35. TERM

The agreement shall come into force on 1st July 2024 and shall, subject to the rights of either the employee or the employer to terminate employment, continue in force until 30th June 2025 when it shall expire.

36. NON-UNION MEMBERS

The parties agree that the following process will apply to the fixing of terms and conditions of non- union workers:

- A genuine bargaining process will take place between the employer and each individual worker who is not a union member; and

- The union parties agree that this process satisfies the employer's obligation to consult with them pursuant to s. 59B (6) (b) of the Employment Relations Act, provided this process is applied to every non-union member who may be offered substantially the same terms and conditions as those set out in this collective agreement.

37. INTERRAI ASSESSMENTS

When a Registered Nurse has an interRAI assessment(s) that is due, they can apply to their Unit Manager or Clinical Coordinator for paid time off the floor to complete the assessment. The duration of time off the floor granted to the Registered Nurse will reflect the time the Nurse requires for completing the assessment.

The actual duration of paid time off duty will reflect the time the Nurse requires for completing the assessment. The following timeframes are to be used indicatively for the application and approval of time off the floor:

- New assessments (or assessments with significant changes): 2-4 hours
- Routine assessments: 1-3 hours

For the duration that a Registered Nurse is off the floor, they will be relieved of all other duties pertaining to their role. Time off the floor will not be unreasonably withheld. If a manager rejects a claim for time off the floor, the reasons for the rejection will be provided in writing. Planning for interRAI re-assessments should be done with the Clinical Coordinator in relation to the 6 monthly requirement for reassessment to ensure adequate staffing is available to carry out clinical duties.

The indicative timeframes will be reviewed 6 months after the introduction of the revised interRAI training manual.

38. ACTUALISING TE TIRITI

CHT acknowledges the importance of Te Tiriti o Waitangi and will promote and enable all employees to gain an understanding of the principles and be able to demonstrate this in our workplace.

CHT will provide a culturally safe working environment that supports the cultural beliefs and aspirations of its employees, particularly Māori as tangata whenua.

Support to attain qualifications.

- CHT will provide level 2, 3 and 4 qualifications via an accredited provider. Staff members covered under the equal pay settlement will be enrolled with the provider at CHT's expense. Support for study will be provided through CHT's on-site assessors and through support from the training provider.

- Once achievement of a qualification has been confirmed by the production of a certificate new pay rates shall apply from the date the qualification was achieved, as recorded by the NZQA record of achievement. This clause is applied from 1st July 2018 and is not to be applied retrospectively.

Level 4a exemption

Existing care and support workers who reach 12 years current continuous service with the employer after 1 July 2017 and who have not achieved a Level 4 Certificate will move on to a "Level 4a" rate unless there are genuine reasons based on reasonable grounds that the employer did not provide the support necessary for the employee to achieve the Level 4 qualification, in which case the employee will be entitled to move to the Level 4b step (not Level 4a). Any dispute about the provision of the necessary support will be dealt with through the normal dispute resolution processes.

Appendix C - Procedure to Deal with Employment Relationship Problems

We can save time and help preserve our working relationship by solving our own problems as far as possible. The following are suggestions for what an employee might do if they think there is a problem, and what help is available.

- (a) Clarify what the problem is from your point of view. Make sure there really is a problem. Check your facts and make sure you have not assumed or misunderstood something.

You might discuss the apparent problem with family or friends or advisers, and find out what the law is and/or what our employment agreement says. You can:

- contact your union delegate or union
- get pamphlets/fact sheets from Employment Relations Service offices
- talk to a lawyer, community law office or industrial relations consultant.

- (b) Talk to each other

We should discuss the problem, either directly or through our representatives. You may bring a union official, friend, relative or colleague to support you in the discussion. We should make sure that we discuss the facts so that we can clear up any assumptions or misunderstandings.

- (c) What are the next steps?

If we have not resolved the problem by talking to each other, one or both of us can do some or all of the following things:

- We can contact Employment Relations Infoline, who may provide information and/or refer us to mediation.
- We can participate in mediation provided by the Employment Relations Service (or we can agree to get our own mediator).
- If we reach agreement, a mediator provided by the Employment Relations Service can sign the agreed settlement, and that will bind us.
- We can choose to have the mediator provided by the Employment Relations Service decide the matter for us, and if so, that decision will be binding on us.
- If mediation does not resolve the problem, either or both of us can take the problem to the Employment Relations Authority for investigation.
- The Employment Relations Authority may direct us to mediation if it thinks that will still be useful.
- The Authority can investigate and make a determination about the problem.
- If one or both of us is/are dissatisfied with the determination of the Authority, we can take the problem to the Employment Court for a judicial hearing. (The Court may also tell us to go back and have more mediation.)

Note that if the problem is a personal grievance, then you must raise it with us within 90 days after the action complained of, or the date you became aware of it, unless there are exceptional circumstances. (A personal grievance may arise where an employee believes he or she has been unfairly treated or unjustifiably dismissed.)

If the problem is about minimum entitlements under the law, you may ask a Labour Inspector to enforce your rights under minimum rights legislation, such as the Minimum Wage Act or the Holidays Act.
